

DELAYED MEMBER BENEFIT NOW LAUNCHED

Great support package finally comes on-line

Members are offered FREE employment contracts and other essential support to meet their obligations as employers

Bill apologises for the delay to the launch of its new support package for employers - which was announced in BIIBUSINESS in February. The one-month delay was caused by technical problems.

Now, thanks to negotiation over free benefits with leading employment law assistance provider, myhrdept members can now access on-line:

- Free employment contracts
- Free conditional and unconditional employment job offer letters
- Free disciplinary and grievance policy documents - PLUS all supporting letters you will need as an employer to cover ALL eventualities
- Free maternity/paternity policy documents PLUS all supporting letters you will need as an employer to cover ALL eventualities
- These superb free benefits are on an UNLIMITED BASIS for all BII members.

"Members are desperate for more help with meeting their increasingly arduous obligations as employers," says BII Membership Director Steve Howe ABII. "BII has a duty to support responsible employers, to help reduce the pain of legislation and bureaucracy and to help members avoid litigation from disgruntled staff who don't believe employers are following strict processes of law.

Technical problems delayed the launch announced in our February issue

Steve adds "Whether staff are permanent full-time, permanent part-time, or temporary part-time they have a host of new rights, under recent employment legislation and very often busy licensees, as employers, can fall foul of following the letter of the law. Make being an employer easier and use this free service."

"This is the member benefit we've been waiting for," says Ali Carter FBII. "The time and expense saved from these new benefits will free-up business people and give them more free time for leisure or to concentrate on running the business. At a stroke it's removed cost and effort to being an employer."

"This alone is worth more than the cost of the annual subscription."

To see what is available - and to benefit from the wider services offered visit Myhrdept.co.uk and ensure you click on the BII logo to gain access to the free documents.